

Priscilla McLeroy Joins Oliver Wyman's Global Energy Practice

HOUSTON, March 29, 2010 — Priscilla McLeroy has joined international management consulting firm Oliver Wyman as a Partner in the firm's global Energy practice. She will be based in Houston.

Ms. McLeroy joins Oliver Wyman from Arthur D. Little, Inc., where she was Managing Director for the Americas. She brings to Oliver Wyman expertise that spans the energy value chain, including an industry focus on Upstream Oil & Gas and a functional focus on Technology & Innovation Management as well as Organizational Transformation.

Ms. McLeroy has more than a decade of Oil & Gas industry experience. She held multiple executive positions at Chevron and British Petroleum after receiving her M.S. in Petroleum Engineering from Stanford University; she also holds a B.S. in Biophysics from the University of Houston.

David Hoffman, leader of Oliver Wyman's global Energy practice, comments: "We are excited that Priscilla has chosen to join the firm's Energy and Oil & Gas team. Her presence will bolster our practice's capabilities and experience in upstream oil & gas and continue to strengthen Oliver Wyman's brand across international and national oil companies."

About Oliver Wyman

With more than 2,900 professionals in over 40 cities around the globe, Oliver Wyman is an international management consulting firm that combines deep industry knowledge with specialized expertise in strategy, operations, risk management, organizational transformation, and leadership development. The firm helps clients optimize their businesses, improve their operations and risk profile, and accelerate their organizational performance to seize the most attractive opportunities. Oliver Wyman is part of Marsh & McLennan Companies [NYSE: MMC]. For more information, visit www.oliverwyman.com.

###