A Transformative Approach to Health Care

ALIGNMENT HEALTHCARE IS A PROUD SPONSOR OF THE 2016 OLIVER WYMAN HEALTH INNOVATION SUMMIT
Welcome to the 2016 Health Innovation Summit. We are thrilled to host you in Chicago, alongside hundreds of other senior leaders who are pioneering the transformation of the health market.

Today, consumers have higher expectations than ever around experience – and in healthcare, unlocking the key to engagement and motivation is what separates best in class from everyone else. That is why we’re focusing this year’s Summit on The Consumer Imperative: Transforming Healthcare From the Outside In. We will compel you to rethink just how well you know your consumer. We will introduce you to the bright stars who are harnessing their understanding of the consumer to drive outsized impact. And we will challenge you to consider how you can design differently to create a magnetism that will keep your consumers engaged.

Our goal is to move beyond discussion to deep understanding to accelerate the trajectory of the shifting marketplace. We will dig into dialogue with those who have cracked the code, and we will glean insights from those who are converting a fundamental understanding of human behavior to high-impact relationships and sustained value to their businesses.

We are at an important juncture on our path to health transformation. The fact that “health consumer” is now common parlance shows just how far we have come in the past few years; but the reality is we still have a long way to go. Much of the healthcare experience is still designed and delivered in traditional B2B fashion. To drive behavior change, deliver exceptional experience, and achieve lasting value, we must design with the consumer at the center. With each step on the journey to Health Market 2.0, we must consider The Consumer Imperative.

I hope our event will be a catalyst for the innovation and collaboration required to achieve health transformation – the common aim that brings us together and drives us forward.

Warm regards,

Terry Stone

IMMERSION TOURS

Wednesday, September 21, 2:00 – 5:00 PM, Depart from Auto Lobby, Level B2

Explore how Chicago’s most innovative organizations are transforming the health market through on-site, interactive tours

Extending the Care Team:

Technology With a Human Touch

The experience of being a patient lasts minutes or hours and does not equip people to manage a life-long chronic condition, safely recover in the weeks after a procedure, or effectively transition home in the months after a hospitalization. Emmi’s multimodal technology addresses the dissonance between patient and person by extending the care team with a human touch. Understanding what matters to people and to those who provide care enables Emmi to foster confidence and competence and have better conversations that improve outcomes and experiences for patients, providers, and organizations. See how they connect the dots to address the consumer experience: participate in the product process; understand how interviews, focus groups, and A/B tests inform interactive programs; experience implementation and deployment conversations; and gain insight into how impact is assessed and studies are designed to drive continuous improvement.

Happy, Healthy, and Out of the Hospital:

A Community Approach to Care for Adults on Medicare

Oak Street Health makes a promise to “keep our patients happy, healthy, and out of the hospital.” Head to an Oak Street Health center for a founder-led tour and see how they keep that promise daily: Friendly team members greet patients and welcome them to the happiest place in healthcare. From there, patients enjoy knowing that they have the support of their Care Team, who oversee every aspect of their care in and out of the doctor’s office. When they’re not building a relationship with their providers, patients come together in our bright, spacious community rooms for free daily events and classes. Come see the Oak Street Health difference for yourself. Come see why our patients call us family.

Bridging the Innovation Gap:

Building Value Outside Your Four Walls

The past decade has taught us that it isn’t sufficient to rely solely on innovation from within. Fewer barriers to entry allow for an unprecedented proliferation of innovators, presenting both opportunities for, and threats to, established incumbents. Sandbox Industries implements innovation by guiding their partners through the rapidly changing startup landscape so they can navigate with confidence and invest in new opportunities at market speed – ahead of the competition. Learn from Sandbox’s leadership as they lay out their highly structured, purpose-driven approach to picking winners and finding the right health plan partners to enable innovation at scale. And engage in dialogue with forward-thinking entrepreneurs who will showcase solutions that can transform the member experience.

Not Your Typical Doctor’s Office

Head to One Medical Group to get a behind-the-scenes look at a reinvented primary care practice – one of nearly 50 national locations that takes a completely different approach to delivering care. Interact with the team and discuss how they’ve transformed the traditional doctor’s visit to one that is hassle-free, stress-free, and built upon a strong relationship with the physician. Learn more about how the innovative practice integrates people-centered design with market-leading technology to deliver higher-quality care and service that leads to high satisfaction and good health!

EXECUTIVE SESSIONS

These focused sessions offer attendees the opportunity to learn, share, connect, and engage in dialogue with leaders from across the industry. Each of the sessions will be limited in attendance, encouraging robust discourse around The Consumer Imperative.

Creating Change: Harnessing the Power of Human Behavior
Thursday, 1:15 – 2:15 PM; Ambassador Room, Level L2
Chris Lloyd, CEO, MHMD, the Memorial Hermann Physician Network; CEO, Memorial Hermann ACO
Marty Makary, MD, Professor, Surgery and Health Policy & Management, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine
Session Leader: Aimee Horowitz, Global Director, Talent Strategy and Inclusion, Oliver Wyman

It wasn’t luck that caused Memorial Hermann to become the top-performing MSSP ACO (with $51.06 million in total shared-savings payments from CMS) for the last two years. And the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation’s “Improving Wisely” project didn’t reduce unnecessary medical care through magic. Learn firsthand through tangible examples and anecdotes how to drive behavior change among even the most resistant constituencies.

Doing Well by Doing Good: Serving the Socially Vulnerable Population
Thursday, 1:15 – 2:15 PM; State Room, Level L2
Darin Gordon, Former Director, TennCare
Peter Marino, CEO, Neighborhood Health Plan of Rhode Island
Jacob Reider, MD, Chief Medical Informatics Officer and Chief Information Officer, The Alliance for Better Health Care
Brenda Wolf, President and CEO, La Rabida Children’s Hospital
Session Leader: Parie Garg, Principal, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman

Meaningfully impacting the health of socially vulnerable populations has been a longstanding challenge. In 2014, hospitals lost an estimated $14 billion caring for patients covered by Medicaid. How can organizations drive differentiated impact when it requires a nuanced understanding of a population ranging from the young and healthy, to individuals with severe mental illness, pregnant women, and seniors with chronic diseases? Will any program be ROI positive? Gain a deeper understanding of the unique behaviors of this population and learn from organizations well versed in what works (and what doesn’t) to start building lasting solutions.

Holding Up a Mirror on Mission: The Necessity and Value of Building Healthy Communities Today
Thursday, 10:45 – 11:45 AM; State Room, Level L2
Julie Morita, MD, Commissioner, Chicago Department of Health
Barb Petee, Chief Advocacy and Government Relations Officer, ProMedica
Donato Tramuto, CEO, Healthways, Inc.; Board Member, ShareCare
Session Leader: Josh Michelson, Partner, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman; Co-Director, OWHIC Leaders Alliance

The ultimate goal of population health is to improve the health of whole communities; but achieving this goal requires an unprecedented level of cooperation and blurring of traditional boundaries. Hear how the Healthy Chicago 2.0 initiative is bringing together organizations to reduce health inequality. Learn from the success of ProMedica, a health system that built a grocery store to give the community access to fresh food. And hear how Healthways is transforming communities through their Blue Zones Project and Health eVillages.

Thursday, 10:45 – 11:45 AM and Thursday, 1:15 – 2:15 PM; Chancellor Room, Level L3
MORNING SESSION
Sean Duffy, Co-Founder and CEO, Omada Health
Keegan Fisher, AVP Benefits, Providence Health & Services
Todd Johnson, CEO, HealthLoop

Justin Oppenheimer, VP, HSS Innovation Center, Hospital for Special Surgery
Sanjay Shah, Director of Strategic Innovation, Dignity Health
David Van Sickle, PhD, Co-Founder and CEO, Propeller Health
Session Leader: Melinda Durr, Partner, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman

The problems facing healthcare cannot be solved in a vacuum. As the market migrates to a future that is value-based and patient-centric, incumbents will need to partner with innovators. Providence Health & Services, for example, worked with Omada Health to help its employees achieve a meaningful weight loss of 4-6%. Most programs barely move the needle, so what is their secret to success? Learn how to pick the right partner and build a relationship that will help you develop long lasting, high-impact solutions – to be successful, these partnerships can’t be transactional.

Chris Kay, SVP, Chief Innovation Officer, Humana
Chris Waugh, Chief Design & Innovation Officer, Sutter Health
Session Leader: Tom Robinson, Partner, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman
As the healthcare industry evolves to meet the demands of a more value-based, patient-centric market, what practices should be adopted from other industries? Learn from the perspectives of healthcare leaders who started their careers in other industries. Naysayers who think healthcare is too unique to build on the experience from other industries will be surprised to learn how much low-hanging fruit remains, as perceived by these innovation officers with backgrounds in finance, retail, and design.

Stretching Benjamin: Making Healthcare Affordable
Thursday, 10:45 – 11:45 AM; Regent Room, Level L3
Kevin Counihan, Marketplace CEO, Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services
Chris Lloyd, CEO, MHMD, the Memorial Hermann Physician Network; CEO, Memorial Hermann ACO
Peter Marino, CEO, Neighborhood Health Plan of Rhode Island
Brigitte Nettesheim, CEO, Accountable Care Solutions, Aetna
Session Leader: Jim Fields, Partner, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman
Most people spend a lot of time talking about rising healthcare costs, and not a lot of time talking about great outcomes or fantastic experiences. When it comes to healthcare, is cost the top concern of consumers? Learn from CMS’s Marketplace CEO Kevin Counihan on what makes the exchange tick and what consumers really want from their healthcare. Leaders from Aetna, Memorial Hermann, and Neighborhood Health Plan of Rhode Island will join the conversation to help us understand what role providers and payers must play separately, and in concert, to truly drive down costs and make healthcare affordable.

The Future Is Here: Leveraging Precision Medicine Today
Thursday, 1:15 – 2:15 PM; Regent Room, Level L3
Jonathan Hirsch, Founder and President, Syapse
Damon Hostin, Administrative VP, Precision Medicine, Catholic Health Initiatives
Jim Hudson, Co-Founder and Chairman, HudsonAlpha Institute; CEO, Envision Genomics
Jason Langheier, MD, MPH, Founder and CEO, Zipongo
Scott Matthews, VP of Business Development, 23andMe

Liz Worthy, Director, Software Development and Informatics, HudsonAlpha Institute; Chief Informatics and Product Development Officer, Envision Genomics
Session Leader: Tom Main, Partner, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman
The promise and power of precision medicine has at last crossed over the magical intersection of price and utility – moving from ‘fascinating’ to ‘essential’ in a series of key markets. Learn why precision medicine matters and what it takes to get started from six world-class experts who share their perspectives on how precision medicine will dramatically reshape our traditional health and wellness frameworks, and consumer’s expectations across three ready-now markets: consumer/lifestyle, cancer care, and rare disease.

The Happiness Halo: Redefining Consumer Experience
Thursday, 10:45 – 11:45 AM and Thursday, 1:15 – 2:15 PM; Gold Room, Level L2
Helen Leis, Partner, Health & Life Sciences, Oliver Wyman
Randall Stone, Senior Partner, Lippincott
The healthcare industry has not traditionally viewed patients as consumers; but those days are over. Explore the elements that build a positive consumer experience (hint: think about the before and after, not just the interaction); learn how non-healthcare companies are engaging consumers to win in their respective markets; and discover how forward-thinking healthcare organizations are designing a new set of experiences with the consumer in mind.

The New Front Door: How to Get Folks Knocking
Thursday, 10:45 – 11:45 AM; Ambassador Room, Level L2
Pat Carroll, MD, Chief Medical Officer Healthcare Clinics, Walgreens
Deanna Larson, President and CEO, Avera eCARE
Mary Modahl, Chief Marketing Officer, American Well
Lee Sacks, MD, EVP and Chief Medical Officer, Advocate Health Care
Matt Stanton, Senior Director, Distance Health, Cleveland Clinic
Session Leader: Charlie Hoban, Partner, Health & Life Sciences Practice, Oliver Wyman
Despite continued dialogue around the need for a “new front door” to healthcare, utilization of alternative sites of care is negligible – far lower than the perceived demand. In fact, though more than 80 percent of large employers say they will offer telemedicine benefits by 2018, average utilization rates hover around 1 percent. What is keeping folks from heading to their corner store for a check-up? Why does talking to a doctor over FaceTime feel uncomfortable? Learn how American Well and Walgreens have gotten folks “knocking” on the new front door.
It is rare that you are surrounded by peers – from both within your own sector and across the health ecosystem – who are equally passionate about driving transformation in the industry. To maximize the value of this environment, this year we are introducing:

The Oliver Wyman Health Innovation Center (OWHIC) was launched in 2011 to promote positive change in healthcare. We believe that the industry will be redesigned from the individual’s perspective – with an unrelenting focus on consumer value and experience. OWHIC has high expectations for what is possible based on the innovation already in the market and the big promise of what is on the horizon.

We recognize, however, that this vision cannot be achieved without significant cross-industry communication and collaboration. That is why OWHIC has assembled a group of 35+ senior leaders from across the healthcare landscape – incumbents and emerging players – who not only share our aspiration, but also possess the collective experience and market position to take concrete steps to push the industry forward.

The OWHIC Leaders Alliance is a selective group comprised of some of the most influential individuals in healthcare who have committed to work collaboratively on key issues impacting consumer value and overall industry sustainability.

As a body, the Leaders Alliance will strive to:

• Develop a vision for industry change

• Outline a 10- to 15-year plan for achieving that vision, with milestone steps identified

Leaders Alliance members work throughout the year, gathering as a large group and in smaller working groups, to tackle the toughest multi-stakeholder challenges in healthcare.

WE BELIEVE

In the potential for healthcare to be higher quality, more engaging, and more affordable, improving productivity and quality of life for all.

That, while some illness is unavoidable, improving health will pay greater dividends in the long term.

That no one individual or organization alone can change the course of healthcare – but that, through humble collaboration, transformation is possible.

That transformation starts with ideas, dialog, and debate – but that those aren’t enough.

That collaborative development and action are required to make innovation a reality.

That change will be incredibly difficult.

We can do it.
